DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: The co-pending patent application number 09/xxx,yyy on page 1 of the specification needs to be addressed to include the application number.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-6, 8, 13-25, 30-36 and 39-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Winston (US 5,916,210).

Claims 1, 20, 24, 25, 33, 39-41, and 44: Winston anticipates all claimed features in claims 1, 20, 24, 25, 33, 39-41, and 44. Winston disclose of a catheter tip arranged in an elongated catheter for delivery of energy signal to permit light energy beam to analyze body tissue. The catheter tip includes first and second reflective surface 38, 103 spaced apart from one another with fiber delivery connection. The housing of the flexible catheter is rotatable on a sheath for insertion of the catheter into a body for tissue analysis (col. 1, line 64 – col. 2, line 51; col. 4, lines 9-65; col. 7, lines 28-47).

Claims 2 and 3: Winston also discloses of frame member 53 arranged to receive and align the reflective surfaces and the beam-directing member (col. 5, lines 18-23).

Art Unit: 3737

Claims 4 and 5: Winston discloses of slot having shoulder or fitting sleeve over the rotating shaft to guide and align the reflective surface and allow the catheter to be manipulated into the sheath (col. 4, lines 23-34).

Claims 6-8, 34, 35-37, 46, and 48: Winston discloses of the catheter described above with the reflector fitting into a pocket like flange where the mirror reflector is fixedly attached to the pocket where the mirror or reflectors redirects the light beams (col. 5, line 65 – col.6, line 11).

Claims 13-15 and 17: Winston's catheter disclosure includes reflective surface being unitary, within the catheter housing described having proximal end and distal ends with energy collecting fiber and slot to align the reflective surface (col. 4, lines 24-57).

Claim 19: Winston's catheter includes reflective surface enclosed in a catheter tip (col. 5, lines 59-64).

Claims 16, 18, 21-23, 43, and 45: Winston shows in figures 4, 5, and 12a, that the reflective surfaces are in non-parallel position with one being larger than the other and the reflective surface is curvilinear.

Claims 30 and 47: Winston discloses of optical fiber 30 being enclosed within the catheter housing.

Claim 31: Winston discloses that the light delivery fibers are diametrically opposed to the rotation axis to prevent from unbalancing and minimize eccentricity during rotation (col. 9, line 54 – col. 10, line 7).

Claim 32: The reflective surfaces operate independently, therefore the energy delivery is independent.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 7 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Winston.

Winston substantially discloses of all claimed features in claims 7 and 37. Winston does not specifically disclose of manner in which the reflective surface such as mirror is held in place, however, it is obvious to one skill in the art at the time the invention was made to apply means to fastened an object by various design such as glue/epoxy, bolts, hooks, fastener, etc.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 9-12, 26-29 and 38 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
